Alliance Quebec Board Approves a Task Force Study of Employment Prospects

MONTREAL SEPTEMBER 8 - The Board of Directors of Alliance Quebec today voted to approve the creation of a Task Force to study the prospects for employment for English speaking Quebecers.

Alliance Quebec President Robert Keaton says the Task Force will be made up primarily of business people. Their aim is to research the availability of jobs in Quebec where English is needed.

"The study will focus on the jobs available where English is used and to define what obstacles, if any, keep qualified English-speaking Quebecers from those opportunities.

"If we are to have a future in Quebec, we must think of expanding our community and also the use and the vitality of our language."

Keaton said the composition of the Task Force and its formal mandate will be announced soon.
